Dear Mr. Boile:

If Professor Andrews has not already done so, I feel sure he will be glad to explain to you the arrangement whereby this Society awards annually to a member of his class in numismatics designated by him, two years' membership.

Professor Andrews has selected you as the student best entitled to receive this distinction this year, and I take pleasure in telling you that without payment of dues you are enrolled as an Associate Member of this Society for two years. At the end of that time we hope you will have maintained your interest sufficiently to want to continue.

Needless to say we shall be happy to welcome you whenever you may come to New York, and find it convenient to visit our Museum. I know that you will also be welcome in the Museum at Cleveland. There is a small collection there which is very interesting, and if it is not on exhibition, the Curator, Mr. Rossiter Howard, will be glad to show the coins to you. You will find that Mr. Whiting the Director, is also interested.

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary.

Dear Mr. Noe:

Professor Andrews gave me the letter which you sent to him last week and I am taking this opportunity of answering it. I am still at school here at Cornell so I don't imagine that I will be in Cleveland when your lecture is given, although I would like to hear it very much.

In your letter you made no mention of when the lecture would be or where it will be given and I wonder if you could give me that information. Professor Andrews has some friends out there whom he wishes to get in touch with concerning the lecture and it will also enable me to find out whether I can be there for it.

Thank you very much for extending me the invitation and if you will let me know when the lecture is to be held I will advise as to whether I can be present or not.

Very sincerely yours,

William C. Bot

Dear Mr. Bole:

Responding to your note which reached me after my return from Cleveland, there is hardly need for the explanation that I was merely taking a chance that you had already graduated and that you would be found in Cleveland. The lecture was before the local chapter of the American Institute of Archaeology. Perhaps you will care to ally yourself with them, if you are ultimately established in Cleveland. On looking up the matter I find that you have never received our publications. Possibly this is due to our having received no response to our letter notifying you of Prof. Andrew's nominating you for the two years honorary membership. You may have decided that the letter needed no response. In any event, we are now sending you the monographs to which you are entitled. If you are sufficiently interested to continue membership at the expiration of the two year term of your scholarship, we shall be very happy in having you do so.

Very truly yours,
